DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to the reply filed on 6-15-09. Claims 22-70 are pending, of which the independent claims are 22, 44 and 63.

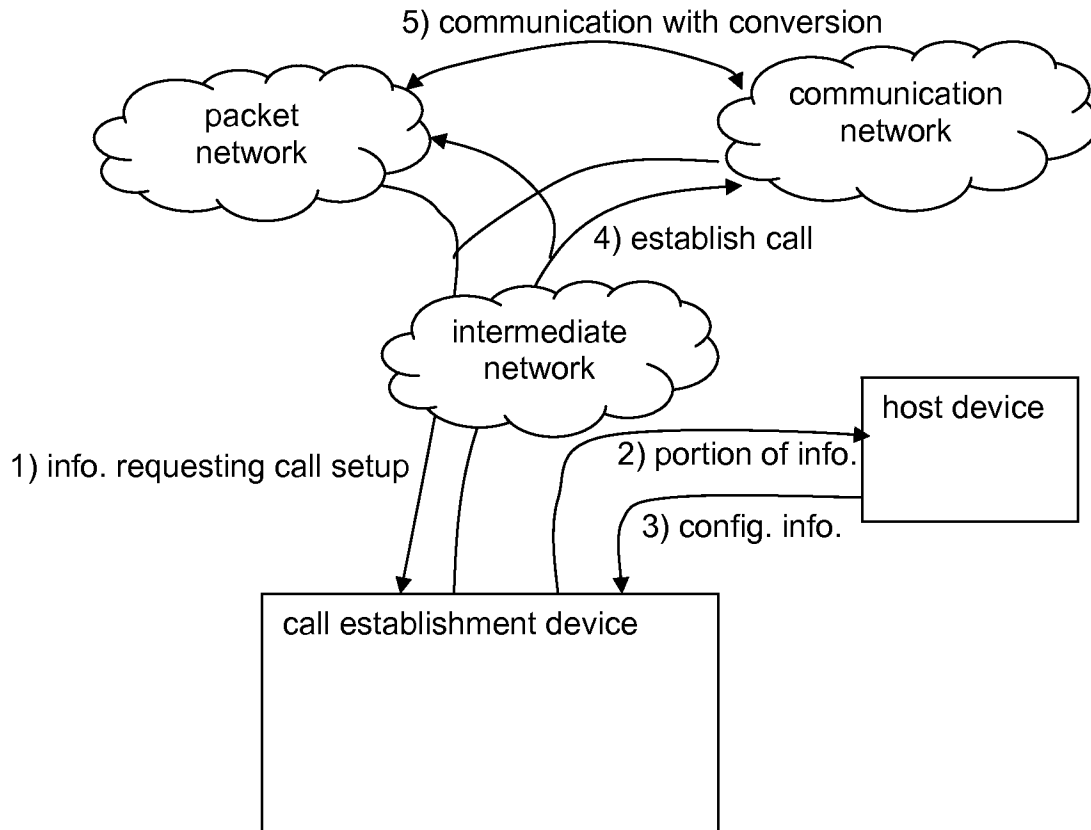

Response to Arguments

2. Applicant's arguments have been reconsidered and they are persuasive. The finality of the previous office action is withdrawn.

Election/Restrictions

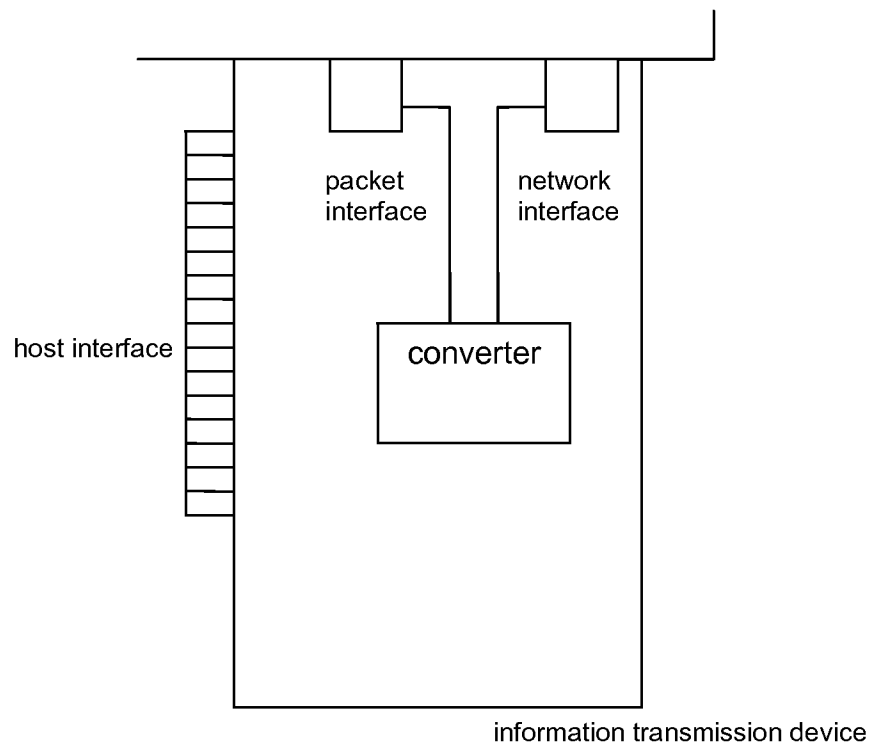

3. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 22-43, drawn to an information transmission device, classified in class 370, subclass 401.
 - II. Claims 44-63, drawn to a call establishment method, classified in class 370, subclass 352.
4. Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)).

(1) the process of claims 44-63 can be practiced by another and materially different apparatus:

As shown above, the process is performed by an apparatus that is materially different from the information transmission device of claims 22-43. For example, the call establishment device only requires 1 interface to an intermediate network for communication with other elements of the system, and it does not require separate packet and network interfaces, a converter, or a host interface.

(2) the apparatus of claims 22-43 can be used to practice another and materially different process:

As shown above, the information transmission device can be used to practice another and materially different process from the call establishment method of claims 44-70. For example, the information transmission device can be used to couple the packet and communication networks for data transfer rather than call establishment, or it can be used to couple the host device to the packet and communication networks.

5. Restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper because all these inventions listed in this action are independent or distinct for the reasons given above and there would be a serious search and examination burden if restriction were not required because one or more of the following reasons apply:

- (a) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art in view of their different classification;
- (b) the inventions have acquired a separate status in the art due to their recognized divergent subject matter;
- (c) the inventions require a different field of search (for example, searching different classes/subclasses or electronic resources, or employing different search queries);
- (d) the prior art applicable to one invention would not likely be applicable to another invention;
- (e) the inventions are likely to raise different non-prior art issues under 35 U.S.C. 101 and/or 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse. Traversal must be presented at the time of election in order to be considered timely. Failure to timely traverse the requirement will result in the loss of right to petition under 37 CFR 1.144. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable on the elected invention.

If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which of these claims are readable upon the elected invention.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
